Introduction

The purpose of this reference guide is to provide human resources specialists a simple, clear document dealing with the special retirement provisions for law enforcement officers (LEOs), firefighters (FFs) and Air Traffic Controllers (ATCs). This guide should be for quick reference to the major provisions in law and regulation. It is not intended to be a complete, all-encompassing reference document. For this reason, we have included the statutory and regulatory references that can be used by the human resources specialist to answer questions or counsel employees in the course of their day to day responsibilities.

The bulk of this reference guide is devoted to LEOs and FFs because of the complexity of the program and the number of positions involved. A law enforcement officer (LEO) or firefighter (FF) is an employee who occupies a position designated by the Agency Head (or designee) as a law enforcement or firefighter position. Employees in these positions pay an extra one-half percent salary deduction to CSRS and FERS because of the special retirement coverage. The special retirement provisions for law enforcement officers and firefighters allow these individuals to receive special retirement benefits after meeting the age and service requirements. Generally, employees covered under these special retirement provisions may retire at an earlier age with fewer years of service. However, these positions have a mandatory separation based on age as well. Issues involving law enforcement and firefighter coverage and eligibility are often complex. This guide provides information to assist in resolving these issues.

Only two Federal agencies have Air Traffic Controller (ATC) positions, the Department of Defense and the Department of Transportation. There are less than 1,200 ATC employees in the Department of Defense. In Defense, the Component Heads have the authority to determine whether an ATC position meets the requirements for special retirement coverage. ATCs under CSRS and FERS can retire early and are subject to mandatory separation provisions, but there are differences in each retirement system. Under CSRS, ATCs are not required to pay extra retirement deductions and their retirement annuity is computed using the CSRS General Formula, with a guaranteed minimum provision. Under FERS, ATCs pay an extra ½% into the retirement fund and their annuity is computed using the special retirement formula.

Section I – Law Enforcement Officers and Firefighters

Background

The legislative intent behind the special retirement provisions for law enforcement officers and firefighters was to provide for their early retirement based on a determination that these positions should be composed, insofar as possible, of young men and women physically capable of meeting the vigorous demands of occupations that are far more taxing physically than most in the Federal service.

The special retirement provisions allow law enforcement officers and firefighters (LEOs/FFs) to retire early with enhanced annuities. Under the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) and the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS), LEOs/FFs can retire at age 50, if they have completed 20 years of service as a LEO/FF. FERS also provides that LEOs/FFs may retire at any age, if they have at least 25 years of LEO/FF service. Under CSRS, the retirement annuity formula for LEOs/FFs is 2.5 percent of their high-3 average salary for the first 20 years of LEO/FF covered service, and 2 percent of their high-3 average salary for any years of service over 20 years. Under FERS, the retirement annuity formula is 1.7 percent of their high-3 average salary for the first 20 years of LEO/FF covered service, and 1 percent of their high-3 average salary for any years of service over 20 years. Under both CSRS and FERS, the retirement system deductions for LEOs/FFs are ½ percent more than for regular employees.

To meet the goal of maintaining a young and vigorous LEO/FF work force, a mandatory separation provision was added to the law. This provides that LEOs and FFs will be separated at age 57, if they have 20 years of LEO and/or FF covered service. Employees, who do not have 20 years of LEO/FF service at age 57 are separated at the end of the month in which they attain 20 years of LEO/FF service. However, if an employee with 20 years of LEO/FF covered service is no longer in a LEO/FF covered position, the mandatory separation provisions do not apply. The law also allows Federal agencies to establish maximum entry ages for LEO/FF positions. Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the maximum entry age for LEOs/FFs is age 37.

When a new position is created or when an existing position description is rewritten within DoD, the servicing personnel office can request a position determination (a request, that if approved, allows all employees in the position to be covered under the special retirement provisions for LEO/FF). Prior to December 7, 1993, all personnel offices had to write to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) in Washington, D.C., for position determinations. An employee who had service in a position that was not approved for special retirement coverage, could request that their agency submit their individual service credit determination to OPM (a request, that if approved, would allow that employee to receive credit for service under the special retirement provisions for LEO/FF). If OPM denied the request, the employee could then appeal the decision to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB).

On December 7, 1993, OPM delegated the authority for approving special retirement coverage to the Agency Head (Secretary of each Federal agency), or his/her designee. Within DoD, this authority has been delegated to the Under Secretary of Defense (USD), Personnel and Readiness (P&R). Requests for special retirement coverage (position determinations and individual service credit determinations) must first be submitted to the local servicing personnel office. The requests are sent up through channels within the Component (Army, Navy, Air Force, Defense Field Activities, and Defense Agencies) headquarters. If the Component recommends approval, the request comes to our office, Civilian Personnel Management Service (CPMS), Field Advisory Services (FAS). After our office reviews the request, it continues up through channels to the Agency Head, USD(P&R).

Requests that do not satisfy the requirements under CSRS and FERS are disapproved by the head of the Component (or his or her designee). If a request for an individual service credit determination is denied by the Component, the employee will have the right to appeal that decision to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB, www.mspb.gov).

Legislative History

Public Law 80-168 (July 11, 1947)

- Congress extended preferential retirement provisions to agents and similar employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI)
- Retirement at age 50 after at least 20 years of service in certain positions.
- Incentive for agents to remain in Federal service rather than leave for higher paying jobs in private industry.
- Reward agents for their arduous, hazardous work (not unlike the favorable legislation enacted for certain Foreign Service officers).
- Encourage experienced agents to continue in service to benefit the government and maintain a vigorous youthful workforce.
- Provide liberalized benefits similar to state and local governments for their LEOs.
- Enhanced annuity formula: Two percent of average basic salary for the five years immediately proceeding retirement for each year of service performed. (Maximum annuity of 60% of average salary.)
- At that time, annuities of all other retirees were determined on an actuarial basis, with a maximum of 80%. Federal employees were generally eligible to retire at age 55 with a reduction or age 60 after 30 years of service or at age 62 after 15 years of service.

Public Law 80-879 (July 2, 1948)

- Extended the benefits for FBI agents to other Federal employees in similar positions with similar duties.
- Employees covered were those whose primary duties were the investigation, apprehension or detention of persons suspected or convicted of offenses against the criminal laws of the United States, including any officer or employee engaged in such activity who had been transferred to a supervisory or administrative position.
- The head of each agency was responsible for recommending, on an individual basis, applications for the preferential retirement.

- The Civil Service Commission, determined whether each applicant's duties satisfied the criteria set forth in law. (Note: Under Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1978, effective January 1, 1979, the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) succeeded the Civil Service Commission in administering the Civil Service Retirement laws.)
- In arriving at these determinations, full consideration was given to the degree of hazard to which the officer or employee was subjected in the performance of his or her duties, rather than the general duties of the class of position held by the officer or employee.

Public Law 81-235 (August 16, 1949)

- Provided for LEO's average salary to be computed over a period of any five consecutive years of Federal Service. Previously, the average salary had been based on the last five years of service.
- Benefited those employees who were demoted to lower grade positions when impaired health might have affected the level of performance as LEO.

Public Law 84-854 (July 31, 1956)

- "Detention" was construed to include the duties of most non-guard prison personnel in the Federal civilian service.
- Limitation of 60 percent of average pay for LEOs retiring under the special provisions was repealed. The annuity limit for LEOs changed to 80% (same as other CSRS retirees).

Public Law 92-382 (August 14, 1972)

- Federal FFs granted the same benefits, which had previously been available only to LEOs.

Public Law 93-350 (July 12, 1974)

- Hazard requirement deleted.
- Annuity formula changed:
  - 2 ½ percent of high-three years average salary ("high-3") for the first 20 years of LEO/FF service, plus
  - 2 percent of average salary for each year exceeding 20 years.
- Allowed retirement at age 50 after 20 years of LEO/FF service, regardless of the employee's job at the time of retirement. Previously, employees had to be serving in LEO/FF positions to be eligible for special retirement.
- Effective January 1, 1975, the retirement deductions for employees serving in LEO/FF positions was increased by ½ percent.
- Premium pay for administratively uncontrollable overtime (AUO) was included in LEOs basic pay for high-3 average salary.
- Effective January 1, 1978, LEOs/FFs became subject to mandatory separation at age 55, provided they had completed 20 years of qualifying service. An agency head, however, was authorized to exempt an employee from retirement until age 60 if the public interest so required.
- Agency heads were authorized, with the concurrence of OPM, to establish the minimum and maximum limits of age within an original appointment might be made to a LEO/FF position (as defined in 5 U.S.C. 8331(20) and (21)).

December 1987

- Any employee who believed he/she had service that met the definitions of LEO/FF service could submit a request to their personnel offices for review (i.e. an individual service credit request).
- Personnel office would forward the request to OPM for a final determination.
- September 30, 1989 was the deadline for submission of requests to OPM.
- Requests received after September 30, 1989 would be reviewed by the agency. If LEO/FF credit was approved by the agency, credit was limited to 1 year prior to the date of the request (unless the timeliness requirement was waived by the agency head).

November 1990

- The mandatory separation age for LEOs changed from age 55 to age 57.

December 7, 1993

- The authority to determine special retirement coverage or credit (i.e., agency requests for position coverage, individual service credit requests, and individual position coverage requests) was delegated from OPM to the Agency heads.
- OPM maintains a regulatory oversight function.

Public Law 105-277 (October 11, 1998)

- Firefighter Overtime Pay Reform Act (FFOPRA) was enacted on October 21, 1998, and was effective for the DoD on October 11, 1998. The Act significantly altered the way in which FF pay entitlements were calculated. Since modifications to the Department's standard civilian pay system could not be put in place immediately, an interim solution was developed to pay approximately 80 percent of the new entitlements, without intentionally causing overpayments. The interim solution used pre-FFOPRA calculations and was effective from October 11, 1998, until August 14, 1999.

Public Law 107-27 (August 20, 2001)

- Federal Firefighters Retirement Age Fairness Act changed the mandatory separation age for FFs from age 55 to age 57.

Public Law 107-67 (November 12, 2001)

- Section 640 of the Treasury and General Government Appropriations Act, 2002 changed the CSRS mandatory separation provision for air traffic controllers to allow ATC to reach retirement eligibility.
- An air traffic controller shall be separated from the service on the last day of the month in which he becomes 56 years of age or completes the age and service requirements for an immediate annuity under section 8336, whichever occurs later.
- Must be in an approved ATC position on the date of enactment (11/12/01), otherwise, mandatory separation will occur at age 56 regardless of whether eligible for an immediate retirement

Service Credit Tips

Details or Temporary Promotions

CSRS/FERS - Employee's position of record determines whether his or her service is covered under special retirement.

Non Deduction Service

CSRS - Service not subject to CSRS deductions (i.e., temporary, TERM, TAPER appointments, etc.) is always creditable service for eligibility to retire as a LEO/FF if:

- The position is approved (LEO/FF) and the employee would have been covered under the special retirement provisions, if his/her appointment was not excluded from retirement coverage,
- However, if the service was performed on or after October 1, 1982, the employee must make a deposit equal to 7.5 percent of basic pay, with interest, for the service to be creditable for the computation of the annuity.

FERS - Service not subject to FERS deductions (i.e., temporary appointment), that is performed before 1989, may be creditable as LEO/FF service if:

- The position is an approved position and the employee would have been covered under the special retirement provisions, if his/her appointment was not excluded from retirement coverage, and
- The employee made a deposit equal to 1.3 percent of basic pay, with interest, for the service.

Additional Notes on Service Credit

- Length of Service: Credit for any service as a LEO/FF under CSRS definitions that was performed before the date on which an employee becomes subject to FERS, is included in determining the employee's length of LEO/FF service under FERS for the purposes of retirement eligibility and mandatory separation.
- Direct Transfer: An employee who met the direct transfer requirement for coverage in a secondary position under CSRS is considered to have met the FERS direct transfer requirement.
- Three Year Rule: CSRS service in a primary position can be counted as service in a rigorous position for purposes of the FERS 3-year requirement.
- Three Year Rule: If an employee, serving in a secondary position under CSRS special retirement provisions, elects FERS (without a break in service greater than 3 days) the 3-year rigorous service requirement is deemed to have been met.

The Public Safety Officers' Benefits Program (PSOB)

The Public Safety Officers' Benefits Program (PSOB) is administered by the Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Assistance (not OPM).

The Public Safety Officers' Benefits program (PSOB) consists of three parts:

- 1) A one-time, tax-free financial benefit to eligible survivors of public safety officers whose deaths are the direct and proximate result of a traumatic injury sustained in the line of duty. The death benefit payable for eligible survivors in FY 2002 is $259,038.
- 2) Benefits to public safety officers who have been permanently and totally disabled by a catastrophic personal injury sustained in the line of duty if that injury permanently prevents the officer from performing any gainful work. The disability benefit per payment is also $259,038 for FY 2002.
- 3) The Public Safety Officers Educational Assistance (PSOEA), which provides educational assistance to the children and spouse survivors of federal, state, and local public safety officers who were killed or permanently disabled in the line of duty. The PSOEA was authorized with the passage of the Police, Fire, and Emergency Officers Educational Assistance Act of 1998 (P.L. 105-390).

The benefits are not limited to employees serving in approved LEO/FF positions. For these benefits, a public safety officer is a person serving a public agency in an official capacity, with or without compensation, as a law enforcement officer, firefighter, or member of a public rescue squad or ambulance crew. Law enforcement officers include, but are not limited to, police, corrections, probation, parole, and judicial officers. Volunteer firefighters and members of volunteer rescue squads and ambulance crews are covered under the program if they are officially recognized or designated members of legally organized volunteer fire departments, rescue squads, or ambulance crews.

The following Fact Sheets contain general information about these benefits:

Steps for Determining CSRS & CSRS Offset Special Retirement Coverage Law Enforcement Officers and Firefighters

1. Is the employee assigned to a position that has been approved for special retirement coverage?

- A. Don't know? Code the employee as CSRS (code 1) or CSRS Offset (code C). Contact the special retirement section at your Component headquarters. They maintain a list of all approved positions and can tell you whether the position has been approved. Find out whether the position is approved as a primary position or a secondary (supervisory or administrative) position. When the position approval status has been verified, continue with the special coverage determination for the employee.
- B. Yes. Continue to question 2.
- C. No. The employee will be CSRS (code 1) or CSRS-Offset (code C). The information below discusses the agency actions to request position approval and employee actions to request individual service credit.

Position Approval: The employing office may request approval of special retirement coverage for the position. Chapter 830 of the Civilian Personnel Manual (DoD 1400.25M) outlines the procedure for requesting coverage. Your Component headquarters special retirement section can provide additional guidance to help you submit the request. If the position is approved for coverage by the Agency Head, continue with the coverage determination for the employee (start over at question 1).

Individual Service Credit: If the employing office does not request position approval or if the position approval has already been denied, the employee may request an individual service credit determination. The employing office is not required to issue the employee a notice informing him/her of the right to request individual service credit.

An employee's request for individual service credit determinations is governed by the regulations in 5 CFR 831.906. The employee has the burden of proving that their position meets the legal definition of law enforcement officer or firefighter. The definitions can be found in 5 CFR 831.902. If the employee is able to prove that his/her position (or past service in a position) should be covered under the special retirement provisions, he/she will be granted special retirement credit, but the credit may be limited. Credit will not be granted for a period greater than 1 year prior to the date of the employee's request. The agency will enforce this time limit unless the employee proves that he/she was prevented from circumstances beyond his/her control from submitting the request within the time limit. Only the Agency Head, Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, USD (P&R), has the authority to waive the time limit.

Requests that do not satisfy the requirements under CSRS and FERS are disapproved by the head of the Component (or his or her designee). If a request for an individual service credit determination is denied by the Component, the employee will have the right, under 5 CFR 831.910, to appeal that decision to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB, www.mspb.gov).

Employees that are granted individual service credit (by the Agency Head or MSPB) are not coded under the special retirement provisions. They are coded as CSRS (code 1) or CSRS Offset (code C). If service credit is approved by the Agency Head, it will specify the period of service for which special retirement credit is granted. If service credit is granted by MSPB, an agency memo must be prepared to document the amount of service credit granted by the MSPB order. Procedures within your Component will dictate whether this agency memo is written by the Component headquarters special retirement division or by the servicing personnel office. The memo from the agency and the MSPB decision are permanently filed in the employee's Official Personnel Folder (OPF). The agency must collect the additional 1/2 percent retirement contributions for the period of service granted by the Agency Head or MSPB. At the time the employee retires, the Agency Head memo and/or the MSPB decision is used to verify the special retirement service.

2. You've verified that the employee's position is approved for special retirement coverage. Was the position coverage approved under the primary category or the secondary (administrative or supervisory) category?

- A. Don't know. If you have an approval memo (from OPM or the Agency Head), it will state whether the approval is under the primary or secondary category. If you don't have the approval memo, contact your Component headquarters special retirement division to find out whether the position is approved as primary or secondary. Continue with the special coverage determination when you find the answer.
- B. Primary position: code the employee as CSRS Special (code 6) or CSRS Offset Special (code E). Stop.
- C. Secondary position: the employee must satisfy the transfer requirements to be covered under the special retirement provisions. Continue to question 3.

3. You've verified that the employee's position is approved for special retirement under the secondary category. Now, you need to determine whether the employee meets (or has met) the transfer requirements for coverage in a secondary position.

Was the employee transferred, reassigned, or appointed to this secondary position directly from a primary position? "Directly" means without a break greater than 3 days.

A. Yes, the employee moved directly from a primary position to this secondary position.
Continue to question 4.

B. No, the employee did not move directly from a primary position to this secondary position.

(1) If the employee's previous position was an approved secondary position, continue to question 5.

(2) If the employee's previous position was not an approved secondary position, the employee does not meet the transfer requirements for coverage (5 CFR 831.904). The employee's service history should fall within one of these categories: the employee has never served in an approved primary position; or the employee has served in a primary position, but there has been a break greater than 3 days. Code the employee as CSRS (code 1) or CSRS Offset (code C). Stop.

4. You've determined that the employee's previous position was a primary position. Was the employee covered under the special retirement provisions while in the primary position, CSRS Special (code 6) or CSRS Offset Special (code E)?

Note: Employees serving in an approved primary position under a permanent appointment would be coded under the special retirement provisions (code 6 or code E). Employees serving in an approved primary position under non-permanent appointments (i.e., temporary or TERM) would be covered under FICA only.

A. Yes, the employee was covered under the special provisions while serving in the primary position and transferred directly to the secondary position. The employee would continue to be covered under the special provisions while in the secondary position. Code the employee CSRS Special (code 6) or CSRS Offset Special (code E). Stop.

B. No, the employee was serving in a primary position, but did not have special retirement coverage (i.e. the employee was serving under a non-permanent appointment, temporary or TERM, and was coded as FICA only). The employee does not meet the transfer requirements for coverage in the secondary position. Code the employee as CSRS (code 1) or CSRS Offset (code C). Stop.

5. You've determined that the employee's previous and current positions are approved secondary positions.

Did the employee have special retirement coverage in the previous secondary position?

A. Don't know. Review the employee's service history. Follow the steps in the special retirement determination process to determine whether the employee had met the transfer requirements for coverage in the previous position(s). Continue with the coverage determination steps when you have the answer.

B. Yes, the employee was covered under the special retirement provisions in the previous secondary position.

(1) Has the employee been continuously employed (see note) in secondary positions since transferring from a primary position?

Note - continuously employed:

- service is continuous if there are no breaks greater than 3 days
- don't count breaks beginning before January 19, 1988
- don't count breaks which began with an involuntary separation, unless the involuntary separation was a removal for cause on charges of misconduct or delinquency

(a) Yes, the employee has been continuously employed in secondary positions since transferring from a primary position. The employee remains covered under the special retirement provisions. Code the employee as CSRS Special (code 6) or CSRS Offset Special (code E). Stop.

(b) No, the employee has not been continuously employed in secondary positions since transferring from a primary position. The employee does not meet the transfer requirements for coverage in the secondary position. Code the employee as CSRS (code 1) or CSRS Offset (code C). Stop.

Steps for Determining FERS Special Retirement Coverage Law Enforcement Officers and Firefighters

1. Is the employee assigned to a position that has been approved for special retirement coverage?

- A. Don't know? Code the employee as FERS (code K). Contact the special retirement section at your Component headquarters. They maintain a list of all approved positions and can tell you whether the position has been approved. Find out whether the position is approved as a rigorous position or a secondary (supervisory or administrative) position. When the position approval status has been verified, continue with the special coverage determination for the employee.
- B. Yes. Continue to question 2.
- C. No. The employee will be FERS (code K). The information below discusses the agency and employee actions to request position approval.

Agency Request: The employing office may request approval of special retirement coverage for the position. Chapter 840 of the Civilian Personnel Manual (DoD 1400.25M) outlines the procedure for requesting coverage. Your Component headquarters special retirement section can provide additional guidance to help you submit the request. If the position is approved for coverage by the Agency Head, continue with the coverage determination for the employee (start over at question 1).

Employee Request: If the employing office does not request position approval or if the position approval has already been denied, the employee may request that the Agency Head approve the position for special retirement coverage. The employing office is not required to issue the employee a notice informing him/her of the right to request position approval.

An employee's request for position approval is governed by the regulations in 5 CFR 842.804(c). The employee has the burden of proving that their position meets the legal definition of law enforcement officer or firefighter. The definitions can be found in 5 CFR 842.802. The employee's request must be submitted, formally and in writing, within 6 months after entering the position or after any significant change in the position. If the employee does not request coverage in a timely manner, the Agency Head's determination that the position is not covered is presumed to be correct.

The agency will enforce this time limit unless the employee proves that he/she was prevented from circumstances beyond his/her control from submitting the request within the time limit or that the employee was unaware of his/her status. Only the Agency

Head, Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, USD (P&R), has the authority to waive the time limit.

Requests that do not satisfy the requirements under CSRS and FERS are disapproved by the head of the Component (or his or her designee). If a request for an individual service credit determination is denied by the Component, the employee will have the right, under 5 CFR 842.807, to appeal that decision to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB, www.mspb.gov).

Employees that are granted rigorous position coverage (by the Agency Head or MSPB) are coded under the special retirement provisions (code M). If the position is approved as secondary (supervisory or administrative), the employee must also meet the transfer requirements for coverage. In addition, all employees serving on the same position number would be eligible for special retirement coverage. If position coverage is granted by MSPB, an agency memo must be prepared to document the approval. Procedures within your Component will dictate whether this agency memo is written by the Component headquarters special retirement section or by the servicing personnel office. The memo from the agency and the MSPB decision are permanently filed in the employee's Official Personnel Folder (OPF). The agency must collect the additional 1/2 percent retirement contributions for the period of service granted by the agency head or MSPB. At the time the employee retires, the Agency Head memo and/or the MSPB decision is used to verify the special retirement service.

2. You've verified that the employee's position is approved for special retirement coverage. Was the position coverage approved under the rigorous category or the secondary (administrative or supervisory) category?
  - A. Don't know. If you have an approval memo (from OPM or the Agency Head), it will state whether the approval is under the rigorous or secondary category. If you don't have the approval memo, contact your Component headquarters special retirement section to find out whether the position is approved as rigorous or secondary. Continue with the special coverage determination when you find the answer.
  - B. Primary position: code the employee as FERS Special (code M). Stop.
  - C. Secondary position: the employee must satisfy the transfer requirements to be covered under the special retirement provisions. Continue to question 3.
3. You've verified that the employee's position is approved for special retirement under the secondary category. Now, you need to determine whether the employee meets (or has met) the transfer requirements for coverage in a secondary position.

Was the employee transferred, reassigned, or appointed to this secondary position directly from a rigorous position? "Directly" means without a break greater than 3 days.

A. Yes, the employee moved directly from a rigorous position to this secondary position.
Continue to question 4.

B. No, the employee did not move directly from a rigorous position to this secondary position.

(1) If the employee's previous position was an approved secondary position, continue to question 5.

(2) If the employee's previous position was not an approved secondary position, the employee does not meet the transfer requirements for coverage (5 CFR 842.803). The employee's service history should fall within one of these categories: the employee has never served in an approved rigorous position; or the employee has served in a rigorous position, but there has been a break greater than 3 days. Code the employee as FERS (code K). Stop.

4. You've determined that the employee's previous position was a rigorous position. Was the employee covered under the special retirement provisions while in the rigorous position, FERS Special (code M)?

Note: Employees serving in an approved rigorous position under a permanent appointment would be coded under the special retirement provisions (code M). Employees serving in an approved primary position under non-permanent appointments (i.e., temporary appointment) would be covered under FICA only.

A. Yes, the employee was covered under the special provisions while serving in the rigorous position and transferred directly to the secondary position.

(1) Has the employee served in rigorous positions for at least three years?

Review the employee's service history to make this determination. Be sure to include: non-deduction service in approved CSRS primary or FERS rigorous positions (i.e., covered by FICA only) even if the FERS non-deduction service was performed after 1-1-1989; and service in approved CSRS primary positions.

(a) Yes, the employee transferred directly from a rigorous position and the employee has at least 3 years of service in rigorous positions. The employee would continue to be covered under the special provisions while in the secondary position. Code the employee FERS Special (code M). Stop.

(b) No, although the employee transferred directly from a rigorous position, the employee did not have at least 3 years of service in rigorous positions. The employee does not meet the transfer requirements for special retirement coverage. Code the employee as FERS (code K). Stop.

- B. No, the employee was previously serving in a rigorous position, but did not have special retirement coverage (i.e. the employee was serving under a temporary appointment and was coded as FICA only). The employee does not meet the transfer requirements for coverage in the secondary position. Code the employee as FERS (code K). Stop.

5. You've determined that the employee's previous and current positions are approved secondary positions.

Did the employee have special retirement coverage in the previous secondary position?

- A. Don't know. Review the employee's service history. Follow the steps in the special retirement determination process to determine whether the employee had met the transfer requirements for coverage in the previous position(s). Continue with the coverage determination steps when you have the answer.
- B. Yes, the employee was covered under the special retirement provisions in the previous secondary position.

- (1) Has the employee been continuously employed (see note) in secondary positions since transferring from a primary position?

Note - continuously employed:

- service is continuous if there are no breaks greater than 3 days
- don't count breaks which began with an involuntary separation, unless the involuntary separation was a removal for cause on charges of misconduct or delinquency

- (a) Yes, the employee has been continuously employed in secondary positions since transferring from a rigorous position. The employee remains covered under the special retirement provisions. Code the employee as FERS Special (code M). Stop.
- (b) No, the employee has not been continuously employed in secondary positions since transferring from a rigorous position. The employee does not meet the transfer requirements for coverage in the secondary position. Code the employee as FERS (code K). Stop.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. Q. Can a new employee (without any prior Federal civilian service) be hired directly into a secondary position or do they have to serve in an approved primary/rigorous position first? If so, will they have special retirement coverage?

- A. If an applicant meets the qualifications for position (education / experience), they can be hired directly into an approved secondary/supervisory position, without having served in a primary/rigorous position. If the position is an approved secondary/administrative position the applicant must have experience in a primary/rigorous position or equivalent experience from a position outside the Federal government to qualify for the position (for example: experience as a "front-line" firefighter for their state or county fire department).

In either case, the employee will not have special retirement coverage. Even if the applicant fully qualifies for the secondary position, he/she cannot be covered under the special retirement provisions because the transfer requirements for special retirement coverage in the secondary position was not met (i.e., moving directly from a primary/rigorous position to the secondary position).

2. Q. Generally, can an employee count military service as a LEO/FF as primary/rigorous experience? Will the military service count towards meeting the transfer requirement for coverage in an approved secondary position? (also read question #17)

- A. If the military service is determined to be equivalent to experience in a primary/rigorous position, it will count towards meeting the basic qualifications for the secondary position. However, although military service is Federal service, it is not Federal civilian service. The service will not count as primary/rigorous service for meeting the transfer requirements for coverage in a secondary position (i.e., movement directly from a primary/rigorous position to a secondary position). The employee will not have special retirement coverage. (See "Conditions for Coverage in Secondary Positions" on page X-13 or page X-18 for more information on the transfer requirement.)

3. Q. If a CSRS or FERS employee completes 5 years of service, in an approved primary/rigorous position, then separates or moves into a non-covered position, can he/she be rehired into a secondary position? If so, will they have special retirement coverage?

- A. As long as they meet the qualification requirements for the position, they can be rehired into a secondary position.

However, the employee will not have special retirement coverage. An employee appointed or assigned to a secondary position must have moved directly from an approved primary/rigorous position to the secondary position (i.e., without a break greater than 3 days). The "direct move" is always required, even if the break between the primary/rigorous and secondary positions was involuntary. The involuntary break rule is applicable only after the employee moves directly from the primary/rigorous position to the secondary position.

If, after the break from the primary/rigorous position, the employee been appointed or assigned to a primary/rigorous position for any length of time (one day / one pay period), he/she would be able to retain special retirement coverage when they move into the secondary position.

4. Q. Generally, are guard (GS-085) and police officer (GS-083) positions covered under the special retirement provisions?

- A. No. Department of Defense has not approved any guard or police officer positions for special retirement coverage. These positions do not meet the definition of LEO as defined in 5 CFR 831.902 and 842.802, because they were created to maintain law and order and protect life and property. They were not created for the primary purpose of investigating, apprehending or detaining criminals or criminal suspects.

5. Q. Generally, are Fire Protection or Fire Prevention positions covered under the special retirement provisions?

- A. Yes, generally. Most of these positions have been approved under the secondary/administrative category for firefighters because experience as a primary/rigorous firefighter was a mandatory prerequisite for the position.

6. Q. If secondary/administrative positions require that employees/applicants have experience in a primary/rigorous position, is this requirement specified in the Qualification Standards Operating Manual (formerly known as the X-118 Handbook)?

- A. No. The Handbook provides general qualification guidelines and generally allows applicants to substitute education for experience when applying for positions. When recruiting for any approved secondary/administrative position, you must use "selective factors" in the vacancy announcement to ensure that applicants have the background necessary to qualify for the position (i.e., experience in an approved primary/rigorous firefighter or law enforcement officer position, or equivalent service).

7. Q. Who approves LEO/FF positions for coverage under the special retirement provisions?

- A. The authority to approve positions rests with the Agency Head (Secretary of Defense). However, the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (USD (P&R)) has been delegated the authority to approve positions for special retirement coverage.

8. Q: Who can approve a waiver of the timeliness provisions for individual service credit requests? (The timeliness issue is discussed under Requests from Employees on page X-13 and page X-19.)

- A. The Agency Head, USD (P&R), has the authority to waive timeliness for CSRS and FERS employees who can prove that they did not file their request for individual service credit in a timely manner based on circumstances beyond their control. In addition, the USD (P&R) may waive timeliness for FERS employees who prove that they were unaware of their non-LEO/FF status. This authority has not been delegated beyond the USD (P&R). Therefore, the Defense Components do not have the authority to waive timeliness and review a request for individual service credit on the merits (facts) of the request. Such requests must be submitted through FAS for USD (P&R) consideration.

9. Q: Do LEOs/FFs make additional contributions to the retirement fund?

- A. Yes. LEOs/FFs covered under the special retirement provision must contribute an extra 1/2 percent of salary to the retirement fund.

10. Q: If a LEO/FF employee retires under the disability provision (CSRS or FERS), will their annuity be calculated using the disability formula or the special retirement formula?

- A. The disability formula for CSRS or FERS will be used. However, these formulas take into account the employee's earned annuity. When calculating the disability annuity for a CSRS LEO/FF, OPM will use the special retirement formula if the employee has completed 20 years of CSRS LEO/FF service, regardless of the employee's age at retirement. Under FERS, the special retirement formula is only used if the employee would be eligible to retire under the special retirement provisions (i.e., age 50 with 20 years of LEO/FF service; or any age with 25 years of LEO/FF service).

11. Q: If a LEO/FF employee dies, is the survivor benefit calculated under the special retirement formula?

- A. Maybe. Eligibility for a survivor benefit calculated under the special retirement formula depends on several factors.

If the deceased employee was CSRS, the enhanced special retirement formula would be used to calculate the survivor benefit if all of the following factors are met:

1. The employee was a LEO or FF at the date of death, and
2. The employee had completed at least 20 years of LEO and/or FF service as of the date of death (regardless of age).

If the employee was not a LEO/FF at the date of death, the special formula for LEO/FF would be used only if the employee was eligible to retire under the special retirement provisions (age 50 with 20 years of LEO/FF service). If the requirements stated above were not met, the spousal annuity would be computed under the CSRS general formula.

(Reference: CSRS and FERS Handbook, Chapter 70, Section 70A2.1-1C, BAL 95-106 and Wassenaar v. OPM, 21 F.3d 1090 (Fed. Cir. 1994))

If the deceased employee was FERS, the rules are different. The enhanced special retirement formula would be used to calculate the survivor benefit only if the employee would have been eligible to retire under the special retirement provisions:

1. The employee was age 50 with at least 20 years of LEO/FF service; or
2. The employee was any age with at least 25 years of LEO/FF service.

If, at the date of death, the employee did not meet the age and/or service requirements for LEO/FF retirement, the spousal survivor annuity would be computed under the FERS general formula. (Reference: CSRS and FERS Handbook, Chapter 70, Section 70B3.1-2C.)

Note: In Moore v. OPM (113 F.3d 216 (Fed. Cir. 1997)), OPM was ordered to compute the FERS survivor annuity under the special retirement provisions, even though the employee (LEO) died in service at the age of 43 with only 14.5 years of LEO service. However, OPM has not amended the CSRS and FERS Handbook to reflect this ruling.

12. Q: If an employee was a LEO/FF for 5 years, then moved into a non-covered position for the rest of their career, can he get a refund of the extra 1/2% he paid during the 5 LEO/FF years when he retires under a "regular" voluntary retirement?

A. No. The extra 1/2% of retirement contributions is not separately refundable.

13. Q: Are LEOs/FFs subject to mandatory separation?

A. Yes. Mandatory separation applies to all employees serving in approved LEO/FF positions and covered under the special retirement provisions. Mandatory separation is required at age 57, if they have at least 20 years of service in approved LEO/FF positions. If the LEO/FF does not have the required 20 years of service, the employee must be separated on the last day of the month in which he or she completes 20 years of service. (References: 5 U.S.C. 8335 (b) and 5 U.S.C. 8425 (b))

Notes: 1) A 60-day advance written notice is required before the LEO/FF can be separated under mandatory retirement; 2) If the LEO/FF moves into a non-LEO/FF position, they will not be subject to the mandatory separation provisions.

14. Q: Can employees request an exemption from mandatory separation?

A. A request for an exemption may be initiated by the employee, but it must be submitted for approval by management. Component Heads have been delegated the authority to approve exemptions from mandatory separation, on a case-by-case basis for employees under age 60. Exemptions must be based on a compelling agency hardship. Requests for exemptions beyond an employee's 60th birthday must be submitted through the Component headquarters, to FAS, then to OPM. OPM has been delegated the authority to approve exemptions for CSRS employees, but the President of the United States retains the authority to approve exemptions for FERS employees.

Note: If an exemption is approved, the LEO/FF must continue making the 1/2 percent contribution even though the extra contribution will not increase his/her annuity.

15. Q: Can a LEO/FF who is eligible for optional retirement (age 55 / MRA with 30 years of service) but only has 18 years of LEO/FF service, retire and have their annuity computed under the special provisions?

- A. No, they must have at least 20 years of service as a LEO/FF in order for their annuity to be computed under the special provisions. This annuity would be computed under the regular provisions. Additionally, the extra 1/2 percent employee contribution would not be refunded.

16. Q: Would the time spent on the Office of Workers Compensation (OWCP) rolls count towards creditable service under the special retirement provisions for LEO/FF once the individual is reemployed in the Federal government?

- A. Yes, if it is verified that the former employee was in receipt of OWCP benefits. Upon return to Federal employment, OWCP recipients must not incur a loss of benefits that they would have received but for the injury, this includes credit for length of service. The OWCP time would be treated as a period of "deemed leave without pay" (LWOP). Since the employee's position of record before his/her separation was a LEO/FF position, the deemed LWOP would provide LEO/FF service credit upon reemployment.

(References 5 U.S.C. 8151 and 5 U.S.C. 8332(f))

Note: The position of record will govern the employee's retirement coverage after reemployment. If the employee were reemployed into an approved primary or secondary position, he/she would be eligible for special retirement coverage. If the employee were reemployed into a non-LEO/FF position, he/she would not be eligible for special retirement coverage.

17. Q: A LEO/FF left our agency for military service. Would the period of LWOP-US or Separation-US count towards creditable service under the special retirement provisions for LEO/FF once the individual is reemployed in the Federal government?

- A. Maybe.

Normally, periods of military service do not count as LEO/FF service (see question # 2).

However, periods of LWOP-US or Separation-US are creditable as LEO/FF, if the employee properly exercises his/her restoration rights under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). In general, restoration requires that the employee leave the civilian position (LEO/FF position in this case) to perform the military service, and then return directly to his/her former civilian position. The USERRA restoration requirements are found in 38 U.S.C. Chapter 43.

If the employee does not properly exercise his/her restoration rights (for example, he/she returns to a non-LEO/FF position or doesn't return at all), they would not receive special retirement credit for the period of LWOP-US or Separation-US.

18. Q: Is Law Enforcement Availability Pay included as basic pay for retirement and life insurance?

- A. .The premium pay that some LEOs receive is considered basic pay for retirement and insurance purposes. You must include availability pay when computing high-3 average salary for retirement and when computing FEGLI costs / benefits (References: 5 U.S.C. 8331(3) and 5 U.S.C. 5545(c)(2))

The OPM web site presents a good overview of availability pay at:

Firefighter Pay for Retirement and Life Insurance

The Federal Firefighter Overtime Pay Reform Act of 1998 (FFOPRA)(P.L. 105-277), changed the way we compute firefighters (FFs) basic pay for retirement and Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance (FEGLI). Just as before, a FF's actual salary may be different than the basic pay used for retirement and FEGLI purposes. When computing basic salary for retirement or FEGLI purposes, do not use the salary rate on the FF's SF-50, Notification of Personnel Action, or his/her Leave and Earnings Statement. You must use the FF's salary, work schedule, and a specific formula to compute the amount of basic pay for retirement and FEGLI purposes.

The FFOPRA changes became effective beginning the first pay period after October 1, 1998 (October 11, 1998, for most of DoD). Therefore, you will still have to use the "old" (pre-FFOPRA) basic pay rules to compute the high-3 average salary for a FF retiring prior to October 2001. For FF service before October 11, 1998 use the "old" rule and for service on/after October 11, 1998 use the "new" rule. After October 2001, you will only need to use the "old" basic pay rules when the employee's high-3 average salary period includes service before October 11, 1998 (i.e., the FFs high-3 average salary was not during his/her last 3 years of service).

"Old" Basic Pay Calculation (used to determine FF basic pay for retirement and FEGLI prior to October 11, 1998): Divide the basic pay plus locality by 2087 to compute an hourly rate. Then, multiply that hourly rate by 80 to find the regular pay per pay period (step 1). Multiply the regular pay per pay period by 25% to compute the standby pay (step 2). Add the regular pay and the standby pay together and multiply by 26 to compute the basic pay for retirement and FEGLI (step 3). (See Worksheet 1 on page X-49).

Example: FF works 72-hour week. His base pay plus locality is $32,578

Step 1:  $$32,578 \div 2087 = $15.61$  per hour

$$15.61 \times 80$  (standard pay period) = $1,248.80

Step 2:  $$1,248.80 \times .25 = $312.20$

Step 3:  $$1,248.80 + $312.20 = $1,561.00$

$$1,561 \times 26 = $40,586$  (basic pay for retirement and FEGLI)

"New" Basic Pay Calculation for Unusual Tour (used to determine FF basic pay for retirement and FEGLI on/after October 11, 1998): This formula is used for FFs working at least 53 hours per week or 106 hours biweekly (such as FFs working a 56, 60, or 72 hour workweek; covered by 5 CFR part 550, subpart M). Divide the basic pay plus locality by 2756 to compute an hourly rate (step 1). Multiply that hourly rate by the biweekly tour (i.e., 106 or 144 hours) to find the regular pay per pay period. Multiply the regular pay per pay period by 26 to compute the basic pay for retirement and FEGLI (step 2). (See Worksheet 2 on page X-50).

Example: FF works 72-hour week. His base pay plus locality is $32,578

Step 1:  $$32,578 \div 2756 = $11.82$  per hour

Step 2:  $$11.82 \times 144$  (biweekly tour) = $1,702.08

$$1,702.08 \times 26 = $44,254.08$  (basic pay for retirement and FEGLI)

"New" Basic Pay Calculation for Sustained 40-hour Week (used to determine basic pay for retirement and FEGLI on/after October 11, 1998): This formula is used for FFs on a sustained 40-hour week, called an embedded tour of duty, (such as a fire chief) plus stand-by for additional hours. The first 80 hours are computed based on a 2087-hour work year. Additional hours per pay period are calculated using a 2756-hour work year. Formula: Divide the base pay plus locality by 2087 to compute the hourly rate. Multiply this hourly rate by 80 to find the regular pay per pay period (step 1). Divide the base pay plus locality by 2756 to compute the stand-by rate. Multiply this stand-by rate by the number of hours worked in excess of 80 hours (step 2). Add the regular pay (step 1) to the stand-by pay (step 2) and multiply by 26 to compute the pay for retirement and FEGLI (step 3). (See Worksheet 3 on page X-51).

Example: FF (Chief) works a standard 40-hour week, plus stand-by for 32 hours. Total hours worked/stand-by is 112. His base pay plus locality is $48,650

Step 1:  $$48,650 \div 2087 = $23.31$  per hour

$$23.31 \times 80 \text{ hours} = $1,864.80$

Step 2:  $$48,650 \div 2756 = $17.65$  per hour

$$17.65 \times 32 \text{ hours} = $564.80$

Step 3:  $$1,864.80 + $564.80 = $2,429.60 \times 26 = $63,169.60$  (basic pay for retirement and FEGLI)

Firefighter Sick Leave Conversion

When a CSRS employee or a FERS employee with a CSRS component retires, their unused sick leave balance will be converted to increase their length of service credit for retirement computations (see CSRS and FERS Handbook, Section 50A2.1-3 F). Because FFs usually work more than 80 hours a pay period, they earn sick leave at a higher rate than regular employees. When a FF retires under CSRS or FERS (if they have a CSRS component), their sick leave must be converted to a regular 40-hour week, before using it for the retirement computations. A CSRS FF will receive credit for all unused sick leave. If a CSRS FF elects to transfer to FERS, they will receive credit for the amount of unused sick leave they had when they elected to transfer to FERS or the amount they have at retirement (whichever is less).

To convert the FF sick leave balance to a regular sick leave balance, multiply the FF sick leave by 40, divide that number by the number of hours in the FFs last weekly tour of duty:

FF sick leave balance  $\times$  40 =         hours          $\div$  FF hours in last weekly tour of duty

Use the sick leave chart for converting the time to years, months, and days (see the CSRS and FERS Handbook, Chapter 50, Section 50C1.1-1, Chart 2, Sick Leave Chart - 2087 Hours).

Example: FF sick leave balance = 1422. Last weekly tour of duty was 72 hours.

1422 hours of FF unused sick leave  $\times 40 = 56,880$  hours

56,880 hours  $\div 72$  hours in last weekly tour = 790 hours of regular sick leave

790 hours of regular sick leave converts to 4 months 17 days service
